

NEW VISIONS

Secondary Transitions for Teens with IDD's

A Panel Discussion w Mary Beth Marsden & Our Group of Experts

New Opportunities

Are on the rise for teens with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Success in inclusive education programs and our awareness of challenges have greatly increased over the past 10 years. Colleges and universities are developing new programs. Job training and employment opportunities are increasing, particularly along the autism spectrum.

When/Where: April 30th

The Woman's Club of Roland Park

4500 Roland Avenue, Roland Park,
Doors open at 6:30. Starts at 7pm

RSVP: Alix @ 410-889-0760 or email at acr@twcrp.com

Light refreshments will be served

Meet and mingle following discussion!

Join us for an evening of discussion

Steve Smith, Maryland Coalition for Inclusive Education

Meg Grigal, Co-Director, Think College, ICI/UMASS Boston

Scott Dennis Assistant State Superintendent MSDE, Division of Rehabilitative Services

Mary Beth Marsden and Nancy Burrows, co-writers of Chicken Soup for the Soul: Raising Kids on the Spectrum, both with teens in public & private high schools.

Claire Holmes, Librarian for Special Education and Adult Disability Studies, Towson University and mother of current CCBC Single Step student

Goodwill Ambassadors: Jody Boone, Director, Office of Field Services, MSDE, Division of Rehabilitative Services. Jill Pierce, Staff Specialist, Transitioning & Supported Employment at State of MD. Gus Garton, University of Delaware Spectrum Scholars Program. Lisa McClellan, obo Del. Michele Guyton, Sponsor of Autism Bill, Megan Kalkstein, Holistic Whole Foods Nutritionist